

You start to hear some sirens and notice the family moving towards the door; you finally put down the GAMEBOY and realize they are bringing in a bed and lowering it towards the ground.

A). The shock effect is in action for a short while, as the people are talking in a group. You then sit back down and continue playing the GAMEBOY, as you realize nothing is really happening other then conversation.

Or

B). You finally get up to join the group around grandma, to see what all of the fuss is about.

A

B