

You learn that she ended up passing away in the hospital over the next few weeks; which was to a complete surprise and was completely unexpected.

A). You hardly take note of it in your younger years, since you focused on yourself. When you finally came to a realization to what you did wrong; it was too late to take it back, because you're in high school. You frequently have this memory brought up in your mind and have a hard time controlling it; you also have a strong emotional tie to this topic still.

Or

B). When you learn about this information, it saddens you; but at least you got to give your best wishes, before she passed and feel no regret.
